

A Jim Goodwin Ship in a Bottle to benefit OWWA

All donors will be added to the Fish House News mailing list.

Please make checks payable to: OWWA c/o Ocracoke Foundation, a 501(c)3 organization.

All donations are recognized by mail and tax deductible to the extent the law allows.

_____ $15.00     cash     check

Name _____ Phone _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zipcode _____

Email _____ (Please print)

Jim Goodwin, shipwright artist holding the Pirate Brigantine Ranger. Drawing held labor day fish fry, 2011.

OWWA’s raffle for 2011 is a ship in a bottle by shipwright artist Jim Goodwin. The work shows the Pirate Brigantine Ranger, the flagship of Charles Vane from May 1718 to November 1718.

Jim Goodwin has been a geologist and an educator, but now devotes his time to preserving this maritime art form and giving demonstrations at museums and maritime festivals. Since his debut at Village Craftsmen and his workshops with the Ocracoke School, Jim has been recognized both state-wide and nationally for his work. He spends many meticulous hours hand-crafting these items in a bottle. He also makes Lighthouses in a Bottle. Jim's Ships in Bottles are featured in "The Lovely Bones" a film based on the Best Selling novel by Alice Sebold.

Raffle tickets will be available when the fish house opens with a drawing to be held Labor Day! All proceeds benefit the Ocracoke Working Watermen’s Association.

